Victoria joined 3PB in 2009, having previously practised at a leading IP set and worked at a boutique media law firm. Her practice has an emphasis on Intellectual Property and covers all aspects of copyright, trade marks, designs, passing off, and breach of confidence actions. She has extensive experience in the High Court, County Court and Trade Marks Registry including applications for interim injunctions and other forms of interlocutory relief. Victoria has recently been involved in advising major organisations in the film and music industries in relation to online copyright infringement and has advised and represented many other major organisations including well known cosmetic companies, fashion labels, and publishers in relation to their IPRs.

Victoria also has a wide range of experience in representing and advising clients in the following areas:

- Landlord & tenant (residential and commercial)
- Real property including boundary disputes, trusts of land, easements, covenants, trespass and nuisance and land registration
- Wills, probate and Inheritance Act claims
