Overview

Jeremy Warner specialises in personal injury, credit hire, clinical negligence and inquests. He is also developing a practice in the Court of Protection. Prior to joining 3PB, he worked in-house at Irwin Mitchell in London, where he developed experience in multi-track personal injury and clinical negligence litigation. He represents both claimants and defendants and is happy to accept work on a Conditional Fee Agreement.

His work includes:

- Conducting a variety of personal injury related trials.
- Multi-track applications and CCMCs, including a successful recent opposition to an application seeking to withdraw a pre-action admission in a £100,000 noise-induced hearing loss case.
- Advice in clinical negligence claims, including cases of necrotising fasciitis, where he drafted schedules of loss using the Ogden Tables.
- Drafting pleadings for multi-track catastrophic injury cases including clinical negligence claims arising from birth injuries and delayed diagnoses.
- Advice and skeleton arguments for multi-track personal injury claims, including complex injury cases relating to loss of chance, psychiatric harm and duties of care.
- Advices on liability and quantum, skeleton arguments and injunctions in the cross-cut between education, personal injury law, and abuse.
- Drafting pleadings for road traffic accident, public liability, employers' liability, occupier's liability and Animals Act cases.
- Striking out statements of case at Court for Road Traffic Accident cases;

In Coronial Law and the Court of Protection, Jeremy has:

- Been instructed for a three-day Inquest relating to the mis-categorisation of an ambulance call which delayed treatment for a cardiac arrest. He represented the family at the Pre-Inquest Review Hearing.
- Been instructed in a neonatal death case involving sepsis, where he drafted submissions on Article 2 and application of the systems duty. He represented the family at the Pre-Inquest Review Hearing and subsequent written submissions.
- Drafted written submissions requesting a Jury for a three-day Inquest for his then pupil supervisor who is an Assistant Coroner;
- Drafted position statements for property and financial affairs disputes before the Court of Protection.

He has appeared in both the County Court and High Court and has been instructed in CCMCs, stage 3 hearings, strike out applications, relief from sanctions, and applications to resile across a variety of cases. He has also made submissions on directions and budgeting in high value claims and has advocated before the Masters at the Royal Courts of Justice. During pupillage, he secured multiple costs orders in favour of his client. His advocacy experience also extends to criminal defence, where he acted privately for a defendant charged with failure to provide a specimen, securing a reduced sentence at court. He is also currently on the Junior scheme with the Government Legal Department.

Jeremy also has a strong commitment to public legal education, having volunteered with the Schools Consent Project to deliver workshops on sexual offences law to secondary school students. He was awarded an Inner Temple scholarship to participate in a gender equality programme in Ghana and has also taught in Rwanda, worked as an English tutor in Shanghai, and worked on a vineyard near Rome.

He is also a keen cricketer and plays for the MCC and a team in London, having previously played for Dorset and Shane Warne's first club in Melbourne.
