On "Renewable Energy from Wind and Solar Power: Law and Regulation"

a book by William Webster – published by Wildy, Simmonds and Hill

"This is another instalment from barrister, William Webster, concerning the law and practice of planning.

The book provides a comprehensive and up-to-date assessment of the law and policy surrounding energy projects.

Of particular use to practitioners is the case study section in which Webster has identified the critical issues upon which the various cases turned. This will doubtless be of assistance to those promoting and resisting applications."
